

November 13, 2012

While I agree with your proposed regulations, I don't think they go far enough. While the so called "10 foot rule" is a great first step, there are plenty of places -- like Metro Center -- where the sidewalks are 15, even 20 feet wide, yet they become completely impassable during lunch hours.

Regardless, thank you so much for fighting for our safety and daily comfort. These regulations are a good first step

Sincerely,

Samuel Stoddard